

Manotick Art Association

Code of Conduct

The Manotick Art Association is a group of local artists who collaborate to inspire each other to reach their artistic potential in a supportive, educational and respectful space.

We are indebted to member-volunteers who donate their time and resources to help make possible all the activities, workshops, speakers and shows. With all our members in mind, our Code of Conduct envisions that we all treat each other with respect, consideration and appreciation of our artistic similarities and differences.

In support of this vision, the MAA has a zero-tolerance policy regarding verbal or physical abuse towards its members.

If you feel that you have experienced abusive behavior, please bring your concerns to any member of the current Executive.

Consequences for failing to abide by our simple ‘treat each other with respect’ will result in the loss of membership and all the privileges that come with your MAA membership.

There will not be any refund for fees already paid for membership, workshops or shows.
